

Spotlight on Eastbourne RNLI

Hello, I'm Bob Jeffery.

I am proud to be part of the lifeboat crew. My main role is volunteer press officer for the station. I'm also a member of the Sea Safety team who visit people on their own boats to advise on safety issues. I've sailed for many years, including crossing the Atlantic a few years ago and own a 32ft yacht berthed in Sovereign Harbour.

The Royal National Lifeboat Institution is a charitable organisation founded in 1824 by Sir William Hillary and is funded entirely from voluntary contributions. It is a totally independent organisation, free from Government control or influence. All this is worth re-emphasising because of late a lot of media attention has been focused on the news that the Maritime Coastguard Agency (MCA), which is Government controlled, is being re-organised with the possible closure of a number of local Coastguard stations. It is the MCA which co-ordinates rescues at sea and requests the launch of an RNLI lifeboat when necessary. This review should in no way impact on the work of the RNLI. We will continue to follow our mission statement of saving lives at sea regardless of where the information of people in danger comes from.

Eastbourne is one of the busiest coastal stations among the 235 situated nationwide. There has been a lifeboat in Eastbourne since 1822, two years before the RNLI was founded. There are currently two boats serving Eastbourne, an all-weather Mersey class lifeboat (ALB) which is moored in the outer harbour, and a D-Class inshore lifeboat (ILB) housed in a separate boathouse at Fishermans Green. Crewed by volunteers who are on call 24/7 for 365 days a year, these boats cover an area between Cooden Beach and the Belle Tout lighthouse west of Beachy Head, and as far offshore as is necessary, even to the French coast if needed.

Last year we launched 112 times and rescued 118 people. Already this year we have launched to over 100 incidents ranging from people trapped by the rising tide, medical evacuations from commercial shipping many miles out to sea, mechanical failures of local pleasure craft and the odd dog which has got out of its depth. Due largely to Eastbourne's high profile within the RNLI and to estimated future life saving requirements in our area, we are due to have our current ALB upgraded to the latest vessel in the RNLI fleet, the Tamar. Costing £2.7 million this is a magnificent piece of equipment and with a speed of 25 knots will mean we can get to where we are needed much quicker. The build is well under way and we expect our new boat, to be named 'Diamond Jubilee' to be on station this time next year. Not only is the ALB being upgraded but we have now taken delivery of a new inshore lifeboat to replace 'Joan and Ted Wiseman 50' which has been on station since 2003. Funding for the new boat, 'Laurence & Percy Hobbs' came from a legacy left by Louise Hobbs.

DO YOU HAVE A PROBLEM? CAB CAN HELP!

Eastbourne Citizens Advice Bureau (CAB) is a registered charity, run by volunteers plus a small team of paid staff. We receive funding from EBC plus grants and donations from other sources. Our highly trained volunteers help clients by advising on subjects including debt, benefits, employment, consumer, immigration, housing, relationships, utilities etc. CAB gives free, confidential and impartial advice to anyone regardless of race, gender, disability, sexual orientation or anything else. We give most of our advice by phone during opening hours. Mornings are busier than afternoons, so callers may get a voice mail asking them to ring back. If you still have difficulty, write to us and we will call you back. Anyone having difficulty using a phone can visit us in person. We aim to offer an e mail service in the near future. When you get through a Gateway Assessor will ask questions about your enquiry, then decide the best course of action. This may involve an adviser calling you back for full advice, an appointment in the Bureau or referral to a specialist. If we cannot answer your query we will direct you to someone who can. They may suggest the website www.adviceguide.org.uk which has basic advice and information on most subjects. We can provide advice on Debt for clients eligible for legal aid. Ex-armed forces personnel can receive advice on Debt and Benefits issues from a caseworker funded by the RBL and RAFBF. We have employment advisers who can deal with complex matters including representation at tribunals. We have 75 volunteers covering all aspects of our work. As well as giving advice, we aim to influence social policy to improve the services, rules and legislation affecting people's lives. If an adviser finds a situation difficult to resolve because of a bureaucratic or legal system, they make an anonymous report which is either considered locally or forwarded to Citizens Advice central office and used as evidence to present to policy makers.

We are trying to raise funds for the Bureau to maintain the opening hours next year when our funding for legal aid will be cut. We are also talking with Hastings CAB to possibly amalgamate to help secure our futures in both towns. Demand for our services is increasing and resources are limited. In 2010 - 11 we dealt with over 10,000 enquiries! New volunteers are always welcome and we have an application form on our website. Advisers undergo training for between 6-9 months; Gateway Assessors become active after about 8 weeks. We are looking to develop volunteer roles for form filling, administration, researching, IT support, statistics and fundraising. Volunteering can be a good way to keep your skills up-to-date and get experience to add to your CV.

Our opening hours are: Monday, Wednesday & Thursday 10am to 4pm, Tuesday & Friday 10am to 1pm Tel: 01323 417177.

Neighbourhood Watch Gets Things Done!

A NHW Deputy Co-ordinator noticed a ladder against the window of his neighbour's flat, which was unoccupied. The Police arrived very quickly after his '999' call, removed the ladder, gained entry to the flat, and found the would-be burglar hiding behind a sofa! He is now back in prison, from which he had just been released on licence. A fair 'cop'!

An elderly resident contacted NHW, concerned that she had agreed to a telephoned offer to service her vacuum cleaner at her home for £20, only to be presented with a bill of £80 when the job was done. She felt intimidated, so paid up, but then felt she needed to tell someone. She was put in touch with Trading Standards, who are now looking into the business ethics of the company, with the lady's co-operation. A 'clean sweep'!

A member phoned his Ward Co-ordinator, upset that local youths were playing football in a banned area, causing damage, including to his property. He felt that the Housing Association in whose property the youths lived, should be notified but did not know which one was the landlord. NHW found out for him, and the Association are now working with local Police to stop this behaviour. A winning goal!

12.40pm Back on the streets, after a quick snack at the station, conducting a high visibility patrol. I get a call on my radio from the control room – a report of an abandoned car within the area. I make my way and discover it is a stolen car. I arrange for it to be recovered so a Forensic Investigator can analyse any evidence.

2.00pm I'm making another visit to a victim of crime and this time it's in the industrial estate as there's been a burglary in one of the factories. I speak with the owner of the business and arrange to come back and do a site visit to discuss and provide any crime prevention possibilities that can make the site more secure.

2.30pm I set off on my bike again to do more high visible patrols in Hampden Park area
3.40pm I head to the infants school - we receive many complaints about dangerous parking near the school. I attend to make sure the area is safe for when the children are leaving school and this is an ideal opportunity to talk to local parents and children and find out about any new issues or problems.

4.00pm I'm back on the streets again and I focus my patrols on the areas we call 'hotspots', which are areas which have the most problems with anti-social behaviour. I sit in one of the parks and update my notebook for the visits I have completed today. Whilst sitting in the park I see three young looking lads in the park, one of whom is smoking. I don't believe he is old enough to smoke so I ask him for identification - he doesn't have any and admits he is only 14, so I confiscate his cigarettes. I take his name, date of birth and address to complete a Stop Form which details to him the reason as to why I have stopped him.

4.30pm I arrive back at the station and ensure that any paperwork I have completed is handed in and update what I have done today on the computer.

5.00pm It's time to go home and relax, so I'm ready to come back again tomorrow for another varied day.

EASTBOURNE
COMMUNITY SAFETY PARTNERSHIP

Riot Free Eastbourne

Following the outbreak of disturbances across many areas of England in early August Sussex Police and the Community Safety Partnership were quick to release information to the community that there was no likelihood of similar disturbances occurring in Eastbourne.

Police shifts were extended and additional Officers were on patrol to ensure that any intelligence was immediately picked up and concerns were calmed. District Commander Chief Insp Jayne Dando provided updates through the Partnership with details of how the police operation was unfolding.

Chief Constable Martin Richards said, "The period of disturbances saw Sussex Police, members of the public, partner agencies and organisations such as Neighbourhood Watch pulling together, offering reassurance and ensuring that our communities remain peaceful."

A snap shot of PCSO Brett Williams' Day

07.40am I arrive at work 20 minutes early to check I have all my equipment for the day and that it's in full working order, like making sure the battery on my airwave terminal is charged, I have all the relevant ticket books in my utility vest, my pen works and my boots are polished! I then check through any incidents that have occurred in my area to ensure that I'm up to date – I have to know all about my area's people, property and crime.

08.00am Time for our briefing from the Sergeant, where officers are allocated follow-up visits for crimes and anti-social behaviour incidents that have occurred overnight. We are informed of any local intelligence so we can keep our eyes out for known offenders and stolen cars.

08.30am I head off on my beat - first stop, the local supermarket. They've had problems with some anti-social behaviour outside the store - groups of young people hanging around the entrance blocking the way for the public. I speak with the security staff and look at some CCTV footage to see if I recognise any of the young people. I do, and make a note of their names so I can follow it up by speaking to them, with their parents, at a later date.

09.00am On to the local shops and speak to the staff who have some information about people knocking on doors trying to sell items. Gathering intelligence is a vital part of my job – this is put on the central system for all officers and PSCOs to access.

11.00am Off to see several members of the public who have had their cars damaged or broken into. I visit the addresses and speak to the owners to find out where they were parked and offer general reassurance. I conduct house to house enquiries and speak to the residents to see if they can offer any information which is then put on to the crime report for the Police Officer who has been given the crime to progress and investigate. Then a quick snack back at the station.
